Important: The predefined styles are to be used. All parts of the manuscript (title, authors, affiliations, abstract, keywords, subtitles, text, figures, figure titles, tables, table titles, equations, references, etc.) must use the suitable style. The styles are described here, but they are available in this file, in the list of styles. The styles define the spacing to surrounding manuscript elements (before and after) and, hence, empty lines should not be inserted. The authors should be aware that the failure to use the proper styles and therewith to properly format the manuscript would postpone processing of the submission.

Main text: use only characters and symbols available in the Times New Roman or Symbol font, 10 pt; paragraph format: justified alignment, left and right indent 0 pt, space before and after 0 pt, first line indent 0.5 cm. First line of the paragraph should be indented 0.5 cm. An Equation Editor is to be used in the main text only if symbols are
