

EDITORIAL NOTE

Dear Readers,

I am pleased to introduce myself as the new Editor-in-Chief of Facta Universitatis, Series: Law and Politics, a scientific journal of the University of Niš which has been published since 1997. I have accepted this role with great enthusiasm and pride because I see it as an important opportunity to serve our society.

The Editorial Board is pleased to announce that Facta Universitatis, Series: Law and Politics is now indexed in the HeinOnline database. It will increase the visibility of published scientific papers and make them available to a wider academic audience worldwide. Please note that our Journal is already indexed in the Open Journal Systems (OJS) and the Central and Eastern European Online Library (CEEOL).

The first issue of Facta Universitatis: Law and Politics for the year 2023 contains scientific articles covering a variety of topics, ranging from medieval law to monetary law, and a conference report on the Jean Monnet International Scientific Conference "The Influence of European Integration on the Development of Monetary Law" hosted by the University of Niš, Faculty of Law in May 2023.

The Editor-in-Chief and the Editorial Board of the journal hereby express their gratitude to all the authors, and to each of the reviewers, who have made a substantial contribution to the publication of this issue. We hope you will enjoy reading the presented results of scientific research on law and politic issues that the authors have selected to discuss.

In full observance of its tradition and scientific importance, we will endeavour to contribute to improving of the quality of this journal and promoting of its reputation among publications of this kind. Given the fact our journal is committed to publishing scientific papers on a wide range of issues related to law and politics, we invite you to submit research papers in areas of your professional interest.

Editor-in-Chief
Prof. Maja Nastić, LL.D.
